

The Entrex Market Index Launches its Monthly Alternative-Yield Token: TIGRtokens™

TIGRtokens™ are the first blockchain-tokenized security to provide access to the monthly income returns of Issuers within the Entrex Capital Market.

Boca Raton, Fl. January 24, 2018 The Entrex Capital Market, Inc. today announces the launch of its EMI TIGRtokens™, the first tokenized security to provide access to the returns of the Entrex Market Index.

In 2017, the Entrex Market Index, the composite index of the Entrex Capital Market (www.entrexcapitalmarket.com), provided a 12.19% average annualized return, via monthly yield payments, through the distribution of 99% of TIGRcub® interest payments received from the Entrex Capital Market's TIGRcub® Issuers..

The Entrex Market Index TIGRtokens™ provide accredited investors access to the monthly alternative yield returns of all corporate issuers within the Entrex Capital Market; while offering the ability of secondary liquidity* through the Entrex eChain – its blockchain enhanced transaction platform.

“In 2015, Entrex worked with tZERO, to facilitate a $25 million TIGRcub® offering, which made history as the first cryptosecurity to trade on the blockchain,” said Entrex Founder and CEO Stephen H. Watkins.

“Since then Entrex has established its ‘eChain’ ledger as an industry leading technology, using IBM's data structure, to provide a regulatory compliant private transaction platform which pushes TIGRcub® transactions out to the blockchain; creating immutable transaction histories” continued Watkins.

In 2017, Entrex's eChain managed over 200 TIGRcub® transactions for Corporate Issuers and distributed the monthly TIGRcub® interest payments to investors. Beginning this quarter Entrex expects to facilitate the resale of various TIGRcub® owner's securities to create the first secondary market for TIGRcub® blockchain-tradable private securities.*
